Economics Team Takes Top Honors in Nationals

The Harding University Economics Team defeated college and university teams from ten regions to rank as co-champions of the 1979-80 national "Students in Free Enterprise" competition in Dallas, Texas July 13-15. The co-champion is New Mexico State University. The University of Akron won third place.

Harding's team received a first-place trophy and a check for $2,500 for the university's general fund. A ten-day trip for two to Europe, courtesy of Pan-American Airways and Intercontinental Hotels, was awarded to faculty sponsor Dr. Don Diffine, associate professor of economics and director of the Center for Private Enterprise Education.

Harding's Economics Team is composed of members Ted Thompson of Indianapolis, Ind., Jake Jensen of Milwaukee, Wis., Walt Buce of Bartlesville, Okla., Phyllis Higgins of Memphis, Tenn., Sally Florence of Columbus, Ohio, Susan Collins of Atlanta, Ga., David Garver of Rolla, Mo. and Paul Holliman of Bartlesville, Okla.

Co-sponsored by National Leadership Methods, of the Austin, Texas-based Management Training Organization, and the Rotary Club of Dallas, the competition began in September 1979 with a league hosted by the Southwestern Life Insurance Co. of Dallas.

The program theme was "Creative Capitalism." Projects were to offer solutions to problems confronting the American economic system. Participating institutions were challenged through formal intercollegiate competition to design and implement free enterprise programs fitted to their own campuses and communities.

Nearly 200 colleges and 6,000 students from various parts of the United States participated in preliminary competition. Harding has had four regional wins, in addition to a second-place finish in the premier national competition last year.

At the National Finals, team members made formal presentations before twenty nationally known business leaders and educators who served as judges. Entitled "Freedom Needs Free Enterprise," the Harding entry included a report and a 12 x 15 foot multi-media display that elaborated on a variety of 65 projects and programs which have been presented for civic, professional and educational groups in the Mid-south.

A new team will begin the 1980-81 Free Enterprise Competition on Oct. 17. During that week the Harding Economics Team will make a free market presentation to the Dallas Rotary Club.

Fall Lecture Series to Begin September 9

Human rights will be the topic of discussion for the opening of the Harding American Studies Lecture Series this fall, according to Harding President Clifton L. Ganus Jr.

Will Sampson, an American Indian motion picture personality, will discuss the role of the Indian in today's society on Sept. 9.

Alexander Ginzburg, a Russian human rights activist will speak Sept. 29 concerning the oppression of the people of Russia.

The two programs open the 1980-81 series and will be jointly sponsored by the Arkansas Endowment for the Humanities and the American Studies Program.

Sampson, best known for his much-acclaimed performance in "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest," is a Cree Indian from Oklahoma. He has recently narrated a film series, Images of Indians, for the Public Broadcasting System. The series deals with the misrepresentation and stereotyping of the American Indian in the film industry.

On the day following Sampson's speech, the Arkansas Indian Center of Little Rock will conduct a program concerning the American Indian in Arkansas.

Ginzburg, a native of Moscow, has been active in the human rights movement since its inception in the 1950's, when, as a journalism student, he edited the Sintaxis, a collection of poems by young Moscow and Leningrad writers. For this he was arrested in 1960 and sentenced to two years at forced labor. Upon his release, he was forbidden to resume his studies in journalism at Moscow University. Having great difficulty in finding employment, he eventually resorted to odd jobs, including cleaning sewers.

In 1966, international attention fell upon Ginzburg's arrest for compiling a White Book on the celebrated trial of writers Andrei Sinyavsky and Yuli Daniel. In 1967 he was arrested with three other dissidents; after the "Trial of the Four," as it came to be known, Ginzburg was again imprisoned.

Released from labor camp in 1972, with ulcers and other ailments, Ginzburg was banished from Moscow and settled in Tarusa, 70 miles away. It was here that he met Alexander Solzhenitsyn and formed with him the Russian Social Fund.

Ginzburg further expanded his human rights support in 1976, becoming one of the founding members of the Moscow Helsinki Watch Group, a citizens' organization committed to monitoring the Soviet Union's adherence to humanitarian provisions in the Helsinki Accords. The group released research findings on human rights violations, including Ginzburg's study on living conditions in Soviet prisons and labor camps.

Admissions Director Named

Durward McGaha has been appointed director of Admissions at Harding University, according to an announcement by President Clifton L. Ganus.

The new appointment will be effective with the start of the fall semester Aug. 22.

McGaha succeeds Fred Alexander, who will be joining the staff of the American College Testing Program (ACT).

"We are extremely pleased to have a man of Durward's capabilities and know he will continue the high level of performance in the admissions area," Ganus said.

Ganus expressed special appreciation to Alexander, who joined Harding in 1968 and has served as director of admissions since 1969. During that time the Harding student enrollment has increased each year to more than 3,000 in the fall of 1979.

McGaha, who has served as associate director since 1978, joined Harding in 1973 as assistant director of admissions. He was acting director during the 1976-77 school year.

Before coming to Harding, he was director of admissions at Arkansas College and worked in the Batesville school district as elementary and high school principal, coach and federal aid director.

McGaha received the bachelor of science degree from the University of Central Arkansas and the master of education degree from Arkansas State University. He is a member of the Arkansas and Southern Associations of College Admissions Officers, the American Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers and Optimist Club International.

He is married to the former Wanda Sue Bridgeman and they have two children. McGaha is a member of the College Church of Christ.

1977, when the Soviet government tired of his activities promoting human rights and charity. In spite of protests from the International League for Human Rights, Amnesty International and the U.S.-based Alexander Ginzburg Defense Committee (including Arthur Miller, Saul Bellow, Kurt Vonnegut and Senator Daniel Moynihan) and the personal intervention of Nobel prize winner Andrei Sakharov, Ginzburg received his most severe sentence: 8 years of special regime labor at the cruelest of all USSR prison camps, Mordovian Camp Number 1.

During the third year of his sentence,

Ginzburg was informed that he was being stripped of his Soviet citizenship and exiled to the West. He and four other political prisoners were released in exchange for two convicted spies. By this time, Ginzburg had spent a total of 9 years in prison.

Ginzburg's family, still in the Soviet Union, is attempting to obtain permission to emigrate.

Ginzburg travels throughout the U.S. speaking, through an interpreter, in support of human rights. While at Harding, he will speak on Monday evening and the following day will make a chapel presentation.

Biblical studies; singles' programs; Christian evidences; church growth; Christian schools; directing and supervising education programs and teaching nursery, pre-school, primary, junior, teenage and adult Bible classes.

In evaluating the Workshop, many participants complimented its organization. "They said our Workshop was the finest organized they've seen," stated Workshop director Jerry Jones.

Jones expressed appreciation for those who attended and led workshops, adding that all of the Workshop lessons were of high quality.

Throughout the four-day program, morning and evening "All-Together" sessions were held for all Workshop participants. Singing during these sessions was led by Nick Boone of Madison, Tenn. Featured speakers included Neale Pryor of Searcy, Joe Beam of Montgomery, Ala., Wayne Kilpatrick of Birmingham, Ala., Gary Beauchamp of Dallas, Texas and Carl G. Mitchell of Searcy.

Workshop sessions were recorded throughout the week, and tapes will be made available. Ordering information may be obtained by writing 13-in-1 Tapes, Recording Studio - Box 757, Harding University, Searcy, Ark. 72143.

Branch School to Open In Florence, Italy this Fall

Last summer, Dr. Clifton L. Ganus Jr., president of the university, went to Florence, Italy to examine the possibility of beginning an International Studies Program. His stay was brief, but Florence was inviting and the idea was appealing. In May of this year, Dr. Ganus returned to Florence to aid in some final preparations for the fall opening of Harding University in Florence.

Upon his arrival, Ganus was met by Dr. Don Shackelford, director of the International Studies Program, who was in Italy with campaigners. The two were joined by Gianfranco Sciotti, the Italian church member who will act as the program's administrator and Italian government and business liaison, in addition to teaching the Italian language to Harding students. Sciotti was also instrumental in securing the building which will serve as the branch school.

Located on the border of Florence and Scandicci, the school is a former apartment complex, now owned by the church in Scandicci. The building has been used for several years to house young Italian Christians as they study the Bible and finish school. The facility will comfortably house 30, and the Italian students, now only three in number, leave much space unoccupied.

Though the three-story building was already equipped with classrooms, a kitchen, a dining area, bedrooms and bathrooms, the coming of nearly 20 new residents would create great needs. Prior to Ganus's arrival, Sciotti and Shackelford had evaluated the needs of the fall semester students and had located kitchen utensils, bedding and a washing machine to make the new "dormitory" ready for its students. "It's almost like setting up a home," stated Ganus.

One of the greatest needs is for an English library. Supporters of Harding and of the Florence program have donated books to begin the library, and many more will be purchased by a $10,000 gift from Mrs. Carrie Lou Little, a member of the Board of Trustees. Of the donation, $35,000 will furnish books and the remainder will buy supplies for the classroom-dormitory building.

The building is three blocks from a bus station, which is 15 minutes from downtown Florence. "Italy has a very good public transit system," Ganus explained. "Students will purchase bus passes one month at a time. It's very economical." Hourly trains and buses will allow students to do much independent touring, and there is much to see. There are 42 art galleries in Florence alone.

Several sightseeing trips are planned for the entire group of Florence students, including one extended field trip which will take them by train and by boat through the route Paul traveled on his second missionary journey. Ganus made the tour himself during his two-week stay abroad. "I think it will be a wonderful experience for those who understand Paul's journeys and accomplishments in Greece."

While in Florence, Ganus preached to the church and was interpreted by Frank Buck, who plans to serve as dorm director of Armstrong Hall at Harding this year. Also, Sciotti introduced Ganus to Mario Sulli, the Italian Minister of Education and Culture. Sulli expressed enthusiasm toward the International Studies Program, Ganus said.

Before returning to Harding, Ganus visited with Mike Sinapiades, a 1962 Harding graduate who is working with the church in Thessalonica, Greece and with Irene Johnson, a missionary in Frankfurt, Germany.

Plans for the fall semester in Florence are complete. Three males and sixteen females, ranking from sophomore to graduate level, have been approved to attend Harding in Florence this fall.

Each class will relate to the Italian environment. Fall semester teachers will be Dr. Gary Elliott, chairman of the English department, Dr. Shackelford and Mr. Sciotti. Courses of study will include elementary Italian, American novels with Italian or other European settings, Biblical World and Archaeology, the life and writings of Paul and Western Heritage, which will integrate European art, music, history, philosophy, religion and literature.

17 Graduate from CCP

Jerry Jones, chairman of the Bible department, spoke on "Characteristics of a Good Minister of Christ," as 17 preachers graduated from the Harding Christian Communications Program on Aug. 2.

As the fifth graduating CCP class, the 17 students took the name Epsilon when they enrolled in the CCP two years ago.

The Epsilon class came to Harding from 10 states, spanning from Virginia to California, and from Canada. The class was composed of students from varied backgrounds, including former employees of Dupont and the Delco-Remy Corporation, supermarket employees, a factory worker, a petroleum laboratory technician, an accountant, a car salesman and a cattle rancher and vegetable farmer.

Members of the Epsilon class left their jobs and brought their families to Harding, where they would engage in two years of concentrated study toward becoming preachers.

"These graduates have completed the equivalent of a double load," stated CCP director Ed Sanders. "They have completed 40 courses, or the equivalent of 120 hours, in just two years." Moreover, he stated, Bible courses are made more difficult for the CCP students, "particularly with regard to memory work."

In addition to course requirements, CCP students are required to participate in one foreign and one domestic campaign. The Epsilon class fulfilled this requirement by ministering to people in London, England; St. Croix, Virgin Islands and North Bay, Ontario, Canada, as well as many different areas within the United States. Beginning with next year's graduates, the Zeta class, CCP students will participate in two domestic campaigns, in addition to one foreign campaign.

Epsilons Bobby Parks of Van Buren, Ark. and Tom Ream of Bakersfield, Calif. met the challenge of CCP requirements, achieving perfect 4.0 grade points in the program.

1980 Homecoming Musical Selected

The 1980 Harding Homecoming Musical will be "A Midsummer Night's Dream," by Bill Shakespeare. One of Shakespeare's most famous works, the play is enjoyed by thousands of spectators each year. Harding's version of the comedy will be different from most. In addition to performing the play as a musical, actors will use modern English and will wear specially designed costumes.

The story, set in Athens in "remote antiquity," revolves around four unhappy lovers. One couple plans to flee the city together, but their secret is betrayed. On the night of their elopement, the runaways are found sharing the forest with pursuers, fairies and a group of Athenian guildsmen who are practicing a play. Seeing the distressed lovers, the magical Puck attempts to help them by creating two happy couples. But Puck afflicts the wrong lover with a spell, and a merry chase ensues as lovers, fairies and bystanders seek to understand and remedy the strange situation.

A romantic comedy, the play has the feelings and the moods of the Romantic period, but it also displays Shakespeare's two-fold sense of humor: the slapstick and the subtle play on words. Much of the humor in the play is drawn from situations of surprise, frustration and confusion - the element which director Chuck Parker deems "the best basis for comedy." Parker, assistant professor of speech, described the play as fast-moving: "There are no heavy moments which give the audience time to get bored with the events."

A single problem with Shakespearian productions, according to Parker, is the language. "His words are precise and lyrical. He says just what we want to say, only he says it better. But he makes some allusions and topical references which are not understood in our society." So, he said, "We've made some cuts and changes. We've taken out the 'thees' and 'thous.'"

Another change from the usual Shakespearian performance will be in the costuming. Typically presented in Ancient Greek or Elizabethan fashion, the play will become 'distinctively Harding's with the appearance of specially designed costumes. Fashions will be borrowed from Romantic, Classical and modern styles and combined to enhance each character's personality.

A major addition to the Shakespearian work will be the music, composed by assistant music professor Jeff Hopper.

"Actually, music has always been a part of the play," Hopper revealed. "When Shakespeare directed the play it included music." But whereas Shakespeare wrote a specific script, he left the music to the discretion of the director. Director Chuck Parker is using music "where it's probably never been used before," according to Hopper. The six or seven major numbers and two choreographed scenes have been strategically placed to complement the action, he said. Other compositions include special effects and over 20 interludes.

"The word is 'challenge,'" Hopper declared. "The play could be enjoyed even without music." In keeping with Harding tradition, Homecoming performers will have the opportunity to display singing talents as well as acting skills. Tryouts for the ten major and several supporting roles have been set for Sept. 18-19.

The first Homecoming musical to be presented in the Benson Auditorium, the production will make full use of the new sound system. Some background music will be recorded, while some will be performed live. Instrumental background for performers will range from harpsichord to synthesizer, including brass and various novelty instruments.

Like the costumes, music will be of an eclectic style, borrowing from Romantic and Classical and adding "a 20th-century twist," Hopper said. "Parker is going to have some very colorful sets and costumes, and we want the music to be just as colorful."

Degrees Awarded to 85 Students During August Commencement

Degrees were awarded to 85 graduates during summer commencement exercises Aug. 15.

John D. Gipson, preacher for the Sixth and Izard Church of Christ in Little Rock, spoke to the graduates on "Accepting Oneself." He admonished them to recognize their human heritage, with its assets and its liabilities. With a reminder that each person must accept his own limitations, Gipson challenged the class to recognize and fulfill its potential.

Gipson, a native of Turkey, Texas, began preaching at the age of 16. By the time he was a senior at Abilene Christian University, he was preaching each Sunday for the congregation in Evant, Texas. He began preaching at Sixth and Izard in 1968 and became an elder three years ago.

In addition to his local work, Gipson conducts six gospel meetings each year and tapes a weekly television program. He lectures on Christian college campuses frequently and serves as a staff writer for several brotherhood papers. Recognized as an accomplished journalist, Gipson has co-authored with Joe Barnett two books: Happiness . . . Day and Night and Paths to Peace.

Summer graduates represented over

John Gipson

30 major fields, including various business, science, language, education and fine arts areas of study. Bible students composed the largest group, with 13 Bible majors receiving the B.A.

Degrees granted included the bachelor of arts (38), bachelor of science (18), bachelor of business administration (6), bachelor of social work (5), bachelor of science in nursing (3) and the associate of arts (4). Eleven graduate students completed the master of education degree in various fields of interest.

Zoller Joins Admissions Staff

Dawn Zoller has joined the Harding admissions staff as admissions counselor.

A 1980 graduate of Harding, Miss Zoller was a public relations major.

"The unique aspect of adding Dawn to our staff," said Fred Alexander, director of admissions, "is that she will be the first female to represent Harding as admissions counselor. That adds new dimension to our program."

Miss Zoller will help to maintain adequate contact with prospective and incoming Harding students, according to Alexander. She will handle correspondence and telephone contact concerning all aspects of college planning by high school students. In addition to interviewing and counseling prospective students both on and off campus, Miss Zoller will represent Harding during youth rallies and during college-day programs at various high schools.

A native of Amarillo, Texas, Miss Zoller attended Amarillo College before enrolling at Harding. While at Harding, she was a member of the Bison staff and of Zeta Phi Zeta social club. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Zoller of Amarillo.

Summer Enrollment Increases 14 Percent

Summer enrollment at Harding increased by more than 14 percent this year.

Virgil Beckett, registrar, reported that 370 students were enrolled in classes during the May intersession.

Harding accommodated 508 students during the first summer session, and 481 attended classes during the second session. Students earned a total of 5,655 credit hours this summer, an increase of nearly 13 percent over last summer's total of 5,021.

Beckett believes that the current economic situation was "a definite factor" in increased enrollment. In talking with students, he found that many had returned to school due to difficulty in finding summer employment.

Of the 836 students who attended summer classes, 185 were seniors, 85 of them seeking August graduation. "A degree means increased earning power in most cases," said Beckett, noting that "many students seem to be interested in early degrees these days."

Summer enrollment included 59 graduate students and 13 post-graduate and special-classification students. The student body represented 37 states and nine foreign countries during the summer.

Fall enrollment is also expected to increase. "We anticipate an enrollment of 3,000," Beckett stated.

Gary Beauchamp of Dallas, Texas speaks to a crowd of nearly 3,000 during the final "All-Together" session of the 13-in-1 Workshop.

Durrington Scholarship Established

Victor L. Durrington of Wichita, Kan. has established a Durrington Church Educational Director Scholarship Fund at Harding.

The scholarship will be awarded each semester by the dean of the School of Education and the chairman of the Bible department. Applicants will be junior, senior or graduate students who plan to work as directors of education programs in the church.

The selection of scholarship recipients will be based on academic achievement, demonstrated capability and potential for future service to the church.

Durrington, an employee of Boeing in Wichita, is the father of Vearl, who attended Harding in 1978, and Vickie, who graduated from Harding in May.

McAnulty to Join Bible Faculty As Visiting Professor of Missions

Dale McAnulty, who has served as a missionary in Lille, France for the last 15 years, will be the visiting professor of Bible and missions at Harding for 1980-81.

McAnulty preached for Lakewood Church of Christ in Denver, Colo. for four years and spent two years preaching in Calera, Okla. before beginning his missions overseas.

The Atoka, Okla. native has preached for campaigns in France, Belgium and Switzerland. He has worked with American military congregations in Germany and Belgium during gospel meetings and retreats. He has toured Greece and has retraced Paul's missionary route through Turkey.

Both the missionary and his wife, the former Imogene McAlister of Fayetteville, Tenn., received the B.A. degree from Harding in 1956. The couple has two sons: Richard, who graduated from Harding this May, and David, a rising senior at Harding.

The employment of a missionary as a full-time faculty member each year is a feature of the Bible department's MISSION-PREPARE program, which will enter its thirteenth year with the arrival of McAnulty.

Dale McAnulty

McAnulty succeeds Howard Horton, a former missionary to Nigeria and the Orient.

Faculty to Add Eight New Members this Fall

Harding will have eight new faculty members this fall; two will teach in the School of Business, one in the School of Education, one in the School of Nursing and four in the College of Arts and Sciences.

Coming to the School of Business are Bob Reely and David Tucker. Reely, a graduate of Florida State University, earned the M.A. at Oklahoma Southeast College and the Ed.D. at Auburn University. He will assume the title of assistant professor in management. Tucker, a certified public accountant, graduated from Harding and received the M.B.A. from Georgetown University. As an assistant professor, he will teach economics.

Wade Bedwell, also a Harding graduate, will join the School of Education faculty as an associate professor of special education. Having received his M.Ed. from the University of Missouri - Columbia, he holds the doctorate degree from Southern Illinois University - Carbondale.

Kelly Bracken, an addition to the School of Nursing faculty, is a registered nurse and a graduate of Wichita State University, having a bachelor of science in nursing degree.

Two new members of the College of Arts and Sciences faculty will be in the Bible department. Coming from Pepperdine University is Carl G. Mitchell, who holds the B.A. and M.A. from Pepperdine and the Ph.D. from the University of Southern California. He will serve as a professor of Bible and religion. Also joining the Bible Department will be Dale McAnulty, who will be participating in the department's MISSION-PREPARE program as visiting professor of missions.

The mathematics department will add David Kratzer, who will hold the position of instructor in mathematics.

He earned the M.S. at California Polytechnic State University.

The speech and drama department will also make an addition. Robin Miller, who graduated from Harding in 1978, has earned the M.A. at the University of Tennessee in Knoxville and will return to Harding this fall as an instructor in speech.

HGSR to Offer Saturday Class

A class entitled Survey of Paul's Letters will be taught on alternate Saturdays this fall by Dr. Richard Oster. Designed especially for long-distance commuters, the class will hold its first meeting on Saturday, Sept. 6, and will meet through Dec. 13 in the new classroom building of the Harding Graduate School of Religion.

Oster, a graduate of Texas Tech University and Rice University, received the Ph.D. from Princeton Theological Seminary in 1974. Before joining the faculty of the Graduate School, he served as a campus minister in Houston, Texas. He authored a commentary on the book of Acts, entitled Acts Part II, which was recently published by Sweet Publications.

The bi-weekly class meetings will be from 10:00 a.m. until 4:00 p.m., focusing on "the major doctrinal themes in Paul's writings, such as grace, the Holy Spirit, the nature of Christ and others," Oster stated. "By meeting on alternate Saturdays, it should be much easier for students living several miles away to come to class eight times instead of 15."

Further information may be obtained by writing Saturday Class, 1000 Cherry Road, Memphis, Tenn. 38117 or by calling 901-761-1353.

McKelvain Receives Doctorate

Bob McKelvain, assistant professor of psychology, received his Ph.D. in counseling psychology from Texas A & M University Aug. 16.

McKelvain graduated from Abilene Christian University in 1971, earning a B.A. in political science. He served as a teaching assistant while he completed his M.A. at Texas A & M and spent two years on the A & M faculty.

A member of the Association for Advancement of Behavior Therapy, the Society for Behavioral Medicine and the American Academy of Crisis Interveners, McKelvain will be included in the 1980 volume of Outstanding Young Men of America.

For the past two years McKelvain has been involved in a series of studies on the psychological aspects of the development of heart disease and the psychological factors in recovery from coronary bypass surgery, sponsored by the Texas Heart Institute. Also, he has completed a study entitled "Recall of Violent and Nonviolent Material under Conditions of Normal Wakefulness, Relaxation and Hypnotic Induction."

McKelvain is the son of J. H. and Billie Jean McKelvain of Moran, Texas.

AWH to Launch Membership Drive

The Greater Little Rock chapter of Associated Women for Harding will sponsor a luncheon to launch their first statewide membership drive in Arkansas. Their goal is to add 300 new members to Arkansas chapters of AWH this year.

The luncheon is planned for Sept. 18 at the Governor's Mansion in Little Rock. Beginning at 11:00 a.m. and concluding at 1:30 p.m., it will feature musical entertainment and the presentation of AWH service awards by Harding President Clifton L. Ganus.

Tickets are $5, purchased in advance only. AWH members are encouraged to attend and to bring prospective members. Groups planning overnight visits will be housed with Little Rock AWH members upon request.

Reservations or further information may be obtained by contacting Brenda McClain, Box 125, Little Rock, Ark. 72201 (664-7242) or Annette Herrington, No. 2 Woodberry Drive, Little Rock, Ark. 72201 (227-0998).

Fall Semester to Begin August 28

More than 3000 students will begin to arrive for the fall semester at Harding beginning Saturday, Aug. 23. The first week of the semester will be filled with the traditional advising periods and registration.

To encourage rest from registration and moving, and to provide opportunities for beginning or renewing friendships, several first-week activities have been planned.

New students are invited to a Sunday evening mixer in the Student Center, and all students are welcome to attend the Monday night showing of cartoons on the lawn, preceding an all-school devotional. On Tuesday evening, the Student Association will sponsor a watermelon party and a comedy movie, "The Prizefighter," starring Don Knotts and Tim Conway.

Registration will be completed on Wednesday afternoon, Aug. 27, followed by a mid-week worship service conducted on the front lawn of the campus. A Bison Rally is scheduled for Wednesday evening, to rekindle school spirit.

Classes will begin on Thursday, and a concert is planned for Thursday evening.

For the weekend, students may participate in an all-school retreat at Camp Wyldewood. Those who stay on campus to finish their moving may attend showings of the Disney film

"Sneak Preview" or "Hero at Large," starring John Ritter.

Monday, Sept. 1 will begin "business as usual," and the fall semester at Harding will be under way.

Lectureship Set for October 7-10

The 57th annual Bible Lectureship, scheduled for Oct. 7-10, will include 18 daily lectures, three chapel presentations and 13 daily classes, in addition to the four theme lectures which will be delivered during evening sessions Tuesday-Friday.

The theme of the four-day program is "We Give Thee But Thine Own." The title lecture will be given by Harold Hazelip of Memphis, Tenn. on Tuesday night. Other evening speakers will be Philip Morrison, also of Memphis, Jerry Jones of Searcy and Frank Pack of Los Angeles, Calif.

Three chapel lectures will be presented for Harding students and guests during the Lectureship. Wednesday's speaker will be John Dale of Nashville, Tenn. David Wallace of Cleburne, Texas will present his thoughts on Thursday, and the final chapel program during the Lectureship will feature Ron White of Oklahoma City, Okla.

Class meetings will begin on Wednesday. Classes meeting daily at 8:00 a.m. include "Stewards of our Time" - David Burks, Searcy; "God's Plan for Evangelism" - Jim Woodell, Searcy; "The Ministry of Counseling" - Bruce White, Madison, Tenn. and "The Vibrant Christian Woman" - LaVerne Wade, Van Buren, Ark.

Five classes will meet each day at 1:00 p.m. Meeting throughout the Lectureship will be "Evolution and the Bible" - John Banks, San Diego, Calif.; "Setting up a Church Budget" - Mac Layton, Oklahoma City, Okla. and "Soul Winners for Jesus" - Jerry Loutzenhiser, Lakeville, Minn. Mary Oler of Dallas, Texas will teach a daily 1:00 ladies' class, including lessons entitled "To What Shall I Give Myself?" "Can I Return my Heritage?" and "All This - By Reason of Strength!" Meeting on Wednesday only will be a class on the Harding Graduate School of Religion, taught by Harold Hazelip and Bill Flatt, both of Memphis, Tenn. On Thursday, the fifth 1:00 class will be "Profile of the Church," taught by Allan Isom of Searcy, and on Friday Al Fowler of Searcy will present a lesson entitled "Stewards of our Estate."

Four classes will meet daily at 4:00 p.m. These include "The Preacher and Taxes" - Charles Stephenson, Lubbock, Texas; "The Sanctity of Sacrifice" - Trevor Williams, Brandon, Suffolk, England; "Victorious Living" - Randall Yearwood, Nashville, Tenn. and "Stewards of our Bodies" - Bill Hale, Amarillo Texas.

Last year approximately 3,000 attended the Lectureship, including 500 registered out-of-town guests. An equivalent or larger attendance is expected this year, according to Lectureship director Neale Pryor.

Special Programs Announced

Special programs, dinners and videotapes will be featured during the 57th annual Bible Lectureship Oct. 7-10.

On Tuesday, the Lectureship will open with a presentation by the Harding Academy Chorus, directed by Craig Jones. The program will begin at 7:00 p.m. at the College Church of Christ.

At 9:00 p.m., in rooms 210 and 112 of the Ezell Bible Center, videotaped Bible lessons, both featuring Dr. Neale Pryor, will examine the books of Galatians and Ephesians.

Special events on Wednesday will include a hymn sing on the front lawn, beginning at 9:00 p.m. The evening's videotape will be Pryor's lesson on the book of Romans. The tape will be shown in room 210 of the Bible Building.

On Thursday, the Associated Women for Harding will host a coffee for visiting women. From 10:00-11:00 a.m. coffee and fellowship will be available in the Olen Hendrix Building.

At 5:15 p.m. the annual 20th Century Christian Dinner will be served in the Heritage Room of the American Heritage Center. At 7:00 p.m. the Harding Chorale will present a musical program at the College Church. The Chorale is directed by Cliff Ganus III.

The Thursday evening videotape, again presented in room 210 of the Bible Building, will feature Pryor's lesson from I and II Corinthians.

Friday at 4:00 p.m. the Jack Lewis Tour Reunion Dinner will be held at Bill's Restaurant. Elders and preachers are invited to meet at 5:00 p.m. in the Charles White Dining Hall for the annual Preachers and Elders' Dinner.

At 7:00 p.m. Friday, preceding the closing Lectureship address, the A Cappella Chorus will sing at the College Church. A Cappella is directed by Dr. Ken Davis.

Other special meetings, reunions and events will be announced at Lectureship assemblies.

There will be a display area in the American Heritage Center. Commercial and non-commercial exhibits are welcome. Space may be reserved by contacting Neale Pryor before Oct. 1.

Lectureship programs and information will be available at the desk in the American Heritage Center. Meals may be purchased in Pattie Cobb and American Heritage Cafeterias, as well as in the Hammon Student Center. Free housing is provided by local church members upon request. Also, many fine restaurants and motels are located in the Searcy area.

Parking lots are located on and near the campus. Lectureship guests do not pay parking tickets; any tickets should be turned in to the Bible Office.

Some of the classes, special talks and forums during the Lectureship will be recorded, as will all of the lectures. Cassettes will be available at $3 each. Ordering information will be available during the Lectureship.

Further details may be obtained by writing Neale T. Pryor, Lectureship Director, Box 767, Harding University, Searcy, Arkansas 72143.

ALUMNOTES

Six Harding alumni have been selected to appear in the 1980 edition of Outstanding Young Men of America: Tom Bateman ('67), a Memphis, Tenn. advertiser; Mike James ('69), director of photography at Harding; David Litzkow ('70), an Englewood, Colo. insurance manager; Steve Sikes ('74), a college instructor in Bloomington, Ind.; Laconia Lot Therrio ('77), a youth minister in Allentown, Pa. and Jerry Palmer ('78), an advertiser in New Orleans, La.

Bob McKelvin, assistant professor of psychology at Harding, and Harding special representative Al Fowler have also been named to the volume.

Outstanding Young Men of America are selected from nominations submitted by government officials, college administrators and civic groups, based upon service to the community, professional leadership, academic achievement, business advancement, cultural accomplishments and civic and political participation.

Class of 1939

Mrs. M. Norvel Young, the former Helen Mattox, received the first honorary doctorate ever awarded by Lubbock Christian College during commencement exercises on April 26.

Helen attended Harding College for two years and graduated from Pepperdine College in 1939. She received the M.A. degree from Peabody College in 1943.

Class of 1951

Dale E. Snyder (BS) has accepted a position as soil scientist for a U.S. Forest Service resource evaluation research team in Fort Collins, Colo.

During the last two years, the Snyders lived in Nashville, Tenn., where Dale was State Soil Scientist for the Soil Conservation Service, USDA, and his wife, the former Gwen Butterfield, taught at Nashville Christian School.

The Snyders' new address is 3231 Silverwood Drive, Fort Collins, Colo. 80525.

Class of 1954

B. Mott Jones (Ex), manager of the employee relocation service in the mortgage loan division of First Tennessee Bank in Memphis, was elected president of the AIB during the 78th National AIB Leaders Conference in New Orleans, La. May 28. He will serve a one-year term.

Jones has worked with First Tennessee Bank since 1958; his banking career includes experience in audits, consumer lending, branch banking, municipal bonds and mortgage lending. He is on the Board of Regents of the Mid-South School of Banking and on the Board of Directors of the Memphis and Mid-South Muscular Dystrophy Association.

After attending Harding, Jones graduated from Memphis State University's School of Business Administration. He is married to the former Nancy Stovall (Ex '58).

Class of 1957

Lewis M. "Sugar" Stewart (BS), Director of the Southeast Georgia Small Business Development Center at Georgia Southern College, has been selected to be included in the new volume of Who's Who in the South and Southwest. He has been approved to be an ACE (Active Core Executives) member to consult with small businesses through the SCORE-ACE program of the SBA.

Stewart's wife, the former Charlene Kimbro ('59), who is an assistant professor of education at Georgia Southern College, was recently granted tenure by the University System Board of Regents. While at Georgia Southern College she developed a physical education program for the college's Lab School serving grades K-9. She has participated in research in perceptual motor development and in teaching methodologies, presenting her findings at professional meetings.

The Stewarts have two sons: Lewis Jr. and Richard. Stewart also serves as an elder for the Statesboro Church of Christ.

Class of 1961

Billy Joe Thrasher (BA) received the Ed.D. this month from the University of Arkansas-Fayetteville.

Thrasher has been a school administrator in Arkansas for the past 12 years. He is now superintendent of Green County Christian Academy in Tulsa, Okla. He has served on the State Advisory Council for Secondary Education and was the only high school administrator selected to serve on the State Council on Economic Education. He has also been selected to Who's Who in American Education.

He is married to the former Barbara Ann Godsey of North Little Rock, who holds the M.S. in early childhood education. The Thrashers have two children: Timothy Alan and Christy Allison.

Class of 1964

Dear Alumni,

With this issue of the Harding Bulletin, we are reviving an old rubric — a personal message from the officers of the Alumni Association. Since my tenure as president will end in November, I'm happy to be the first to write.

Serving two years as president of the Alumni Association has given me renewed contact with many old friends. It has also provided new associations and friendships. I'm thankful for the fellowship which thrives among the Harding alumni. The Alumni Association will continue to bring together the young and the old who have shared in Harding.

There are many ways to contribute to the work of Harding. Some of us are administrators, faculty or staff on one of Harding's campuses. Others serve through the board, the President's Development Council or the Associated Women for Harding. Still others send their children as students to Harding. A growing number contribute financially to the institution. Hopefully, all of us are saying a good word for Harding.

I have become keenly aware of the role alumni must play in the survival and well-being of institutions of higher learning. In a time when private institutions are closing by the scores, the response of Harding alumni will determine whether our children and grandchildren have a Harding University to attend.

I'm grateful for the opportunity to say to you, Harding students of past years, that still, in 1980, "It's great to be at Harding." It is true that Harding has changed. It has grown. There are now campuses in Searcy, Memphis, and Florence, Italy, with additional academic tours in French-speaking Europe and in Latin America. Over 3,000 students on the Searcy campus alone benefit from new majors, new departments and new facilities.

But Harding also remains the same. Many of the administrators and faculty who taught me serve the students and the institution today. The same programs and activities still exist. Above all, the same Lord and the same church remain at the center of the University. Students arrive in Searcy with the same goals and desires as they did in 1935 or 1940, or as I did in 1952, and find a place to grow up in Christ and to build Christian friendships that last a lifetime. And they leave the campus thankful to have been blessed by Harding.

Thank you for allowing me to be your president. And thank you for your continued interest in the Alumni Association and in Harding University.

Coach Develops Own Cooking Strategies

Reprinted from the Searcy Daily Citizen

Assistant football coach Ronnie Peacock uses some fundamental gridiron knowledge to approach his cooking hobby. A football coach starts with the book and makes his own innovations in developing his own style of football. And Coach Peacock begins with a recipe, prepares a dish and tries it. Then he starts adding and subtracting ingredients until it suits his taste.

"I just cook when I feel like it," Peacock says, adding that he enjoys making cookies more than anything else. He says he especially likes to cook things that are "easy to cook." He mentioned pizza, omelets and cookies, which many chefs find difficult.

This recipe for taco salad is one that Peacock has been making for about five years. He serves it with beans.

Taco Salad

1-1/2 lbs. ground beef	8 oz. can tomato sauce
1 tsp. salt	2 Tbs. taco sauce
1/4 tsp. pepper	1 head chopped lettuce
1 onion	2 tomatoes
1/2 lb. cheddar cheese	1 package plain Doritos
1/2 lb. American cheese

Mix beef, salt, pepper and onion and brown on low heat. Melt the two cheeses together in top of double boiler. Add tomato sauce and taco sauce and keep warm. Toss together in a large bowl lettuce, tomatoes and Doritos. Pour warm meat and warm cheese over the lettuce mixture. Serve alone or with a pot of beans.

May Graduates to Attend Professional Schools

Twenty of Harding's May graduates have been granted admission to medical and professional schools, according to Dr. Joseph Pryor, vice-president for academic affairs. An additional 26 graduates will receive assistantships, fellowships and scholarships as they continue their studies.

Five of the recent alumni have been accepted to the University of Arkansas Medical School: David Collier, Frank Brown, Brian Alexander, Charles Murphy and David Gilliam. Dan Sears has been accepted to the medical school at the University of Indiana.

David Camp and Don Jackson have been admitted to the Southern College of Optometry in Memphis.

Pharmaceutical students include Barry Napier and Ricky Turner, who have been accepted to the University of Arkansas School of Pharmacy, and Larry Arnold, who will enter the School of Pharmacy at Butler University in Indiana.

The dental hygiene school at the University of Tennessee - Memphis has accepted Rita Adams Sewell. Other dental students will be James Dove at the University of Texas - Houston and Mike Parkey at the University of Tennessee.

Elizabeth Jill Deacon and Selma McDougale will serve dietetic internships at the University of Arkansas for Medical Sciences.

Harding also produced four law students in the May graduating class. Cynthia Fearn and Rhonda Renee Sigman have been accepted to the law school at the University of Arkansas - Fayetteville. Michael Roden will study law at Memphis State University, and Mary Catherine Sheridan will be at Duke University in North Carolina.

David Osborn has received a graduate fellowship in industrial and organizational psychology at the University of Tennessee - Knoxville. Jeff Hobbs has received a fellowship from Abilene Christian University, where he will teach speech while he pursues a graduate degree in Bible.

Sixteen graduate assistantships have been awarded to the class of 1980:

Karl William Aston (chemistry) - University of Missouri - Columbia; Laura Bell (biology) - University of Houston; Scott Dawkins (chemistry) - University of Hawaii; Jack Greenhaw (biology) - Memphis State University; Darryl Leman Jinkerson (clinical psychology) - Northeast Louisiana State University - Monroe; Richard Dale McAnulty (clinical psychology) - Northeast Louisiana State University; Rick McEuen (research) - University of Arkansas Graduate School of Business; Wayland Pate (psychology) - Texas A & M; Bruce Piller (business administration) - Southern Illinois University - Carbondale; Dennis Slatton (chemistry) - Texas A & M;

Mary Kay Smith (history) - Arkansas State University; Kenneth Glenn Wallers (clinical psychology) - Texas A & M; Rise Knight (English) - Harding; Kristy Rollmann Shelton (physical education) - University of Arkansas - Fayetteville. Ralph Brewer and Jessica Moore have been granted physical education assistantships at Harding.

Several scholarships have also been awarded to alumni who plan to continue their education. Harding has given graduate scholarships to Craig Gray (education) and to Tammie Bowers (elementary education). The Harding Graduate School of Religion will provide scholarships to Randall Clay, James Karl Collier, Roger Hines, Greg Nance and Stephen Parker. Owen Whittington, also a Bible student, will receive a graduate scholarship from Abilene Christian University.

Superintendent Not Afraid to Accept Challenge

Reprinted from the Searcy Daily Citizen, May 25
by Linda Hilbun

Charles Bauer doesn't have a job. At least he doesn't think so, anyway.

"I haven't ever really looked on it as being a job," Bauer stated concerning his role as superintendent of the Judsonia school system. "I like to work with people and this gives me the opportunity."

The 58-year old Judsonia native acquired his position 25 years ago, yet still finds it as much of a challenge today as he did then.

Bauer, who graduated from the school in 1940, came back to be principal, teach history and coach basketball there in 1949. When the school was destroyed by a tornado in 1952, Bauer had to train his girls' basketball team on an outdoor court, taking them all the way to a district championship that year.

And he can remember well the day the tornado came through town uprooting his house and landing it on a pecan tree. He and his wife were both inside at the time.

"There wasn't time to be scared," he laughed. "We were concerned, but it's one of those times when you really can't panic."

But Bauer had been in plenty of trying situations before. He recalled his three years of service in World War I when he spent many nights lying in a foxhole.

"It was the longest night of my life," he stated, referring to his first night in the Philippines. "We had to keep using our helmets to dish the water out. We were just floating in there. I finally just laid my gun and helmet on the outside and laid there. I thought, 'If the Japanese are foolish enough to come in here with me, let them come!'"

Charles Bauer reclines at his desk, where most of his time is spent working.

But they didn't. And after serving in the Philippines, Okinawa and the Aleutian Islands, he ventured to Oklahoma City University, where he played basketball, and then back home, where he graduated from Harding College.

It was a mere six years after that Bauer took over the head position at the school. He's seen it climb to an enrollment of 700 and a faculty of 50. But more than that, he's seen the system itself grow.

The biggest improvements, Bauer added, have been in salary increases and transportation, as well as the curriculum.

"I feel like we meet the needs of society more now than we did back then," he commented. "We have an improved curriculum and a program that's designed both for the college-bound student and the vocationally-minded. We try to meet everybody's needs."

Nine Bison Cheerleaders Selected

Nine girls have been selected to compose the 1980-81 cheerleading squad, including five members of last year's squad.

Also selected were sophomores Lindi Williams of West Monroe, La. and Bobbi Friend of Nashville, Tenn.

Following tryouts held during early orientation, two freshmen were added to the squad: Stacy Green of Searcy and Lisa Wilson of Sherwood, Ark. Stacy is a graduate of Harding Academy and Lisa attended Central Arkansas Christian School.

Cheerleaders are selected on a point system by which judges evaluate applicants' coordination, enthusiasm and eye contact with spectators.

Recruiting Folder Honored by CoSIDA

A Harding University athletic recruiting folder, Harding, placed third in publications competition sponsored by the College Sports Information Directors Association (CoSIDA), according to Don Kopriva of the University of Wisconsin - Parkside. Kopriva served as chairman of the 1980 CoSIDA Awards Competition.

The Harding publication ranked third in the national competition in Division B, which is comprised of entries from NCAA Division II and NAIA Division I schools.

Stan Green, director of public relations at Harding, designed and edited the publication.

McGill University was the Division B first-place winner and Bentley College was second. Honorable Mention recognition went to the University of California - Davis and to California Poly at Pomona.

Harding cheerleaders work with both the football team and the basketball team. They publicize upcoming games, give occasional parties in honor of the ball players and help to boost team morale. Their primary responsibilities, according to cheerleader sponsor Barbara Barnes, are "cheering at games and promoting spirit schoolwide."

"We have nine excellent girls," said Barnes. "Seven of them have been working since last March, and they all attended cheerleading camp at SMU in Dallas Aug. 4-8. We're looking forward to a very good year."

Lloyd Named NAIA Track Liaison

Harding University track coach Ted Lloyd has been selected to serve as an NAIA representative at the national meeting of the Track and Field Association of the United States, in Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 24-25.

Lloyd, who has recently completed a two-year term as president of the NAIA-Track Coaches Association, will be one of four representatives of the NAIA.

The TFA-USA is the national group which will determine and implement the programs of track and field in the United States.

"The real purpose of the organization is to be a worthwhile service to the sport of track and field," Lloyd said. "And it is primarily administered by those involved in track and field."

Organizations which are members of the TFA-USA include the NAIA, the National High School Federation, National Association of Junior Colleges, Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women and the National Collegiate Athletics Association.

He attended last year's meeting as president of the NAIA track and was selected to be an official representative again this year.

Lloyd joined the Harding University staff in 1966 and has achieved national

Football Season to Open Sept. 13

Eighty Harding University football candidates are expected to report Aug. 19 to Bison head coach John Prock to prepare for the Parents' Night opening game with Lane College at Searcy Sept. 13.

"The weather is going to be a definite factor in all of our planning," Prock said. "We'll have boys coming in from a lot of different states and we expect the heat and humidity to affect what we will do in our drills. Of course, I'm counting on the athletes being in pretty good shape when they report."

Three-a-day workouts will begin Aug. 20. Practice sessions will be at 8:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m., with a kicking session at 8 p.m.

Workouts will continue through Aug. 27 with classes getting under way on Thursday, Aug. 28.

Directing the football team are coaches Prock, Tom Ed Gooden, Dick Johnson and Ronnie Peacock. Graduate assistants are Keith Dickey and Mike Black.

Co-captains Kerry Thompson of Murray, Ky. and Scott Ragsdale of Conyers, Ga. will headline the 25 returning lettermen. There are 15 starters returning from last season's 4-6 squad.

Harriers to Defend League Title

Four seniors, including NAIA All-American Richard Teixeira, give Harding University coach Ted Lloyd ample reason to be optimistic about the 1980 cross country season.

A year ago the Bisons won the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference, NAIA District 17 and placed 16th in the national meet in Kenosha, Wis. Teixeira, then a junior from Auburn, Ind., placed 25th in the individual competition to earn All-America status. He is a two-time AIC champion.

"The season has to look very bright for us," Lloyd said. "Last year I thought we had one of our finest teams ever, and they are all back so we should be even better and stronger."

Harding's top six includes the veteran quartet of Teixeira, John Sills of Eads, Tenn., Jon McAlister of Temple Hills, Md., and Randy Jackson of Springdale, Ark.

Just as solid in the performing category are junior Carter Lambert of Pearl, Miss., and sophomore Joe O'Connor, a 24-year-old service veteran from Augusta, Maine. Last year those six runners swept the first six places in the AIC-District 17 meet.

Among the newcomers are incoming freshmen Neil De Carlo of Hoffman Estates, Ill., and Terry Wood of Pateros, Wash.

Lloyd indicated additional team depth would be drawn from a group of middle distance runners who are competing in cross country for the first time. They are Stan Burnette of Jefferson, Ga., Alan Adams of Nashville, Tenn., Jeff Westover of Sidney, Ohio, and Mark Pickhardt of Atlanta, Ga.

The Bisons will open the season Sept. 13 with the Ouachita Baptist University Invitational at Arkadelphia and will host its only meet of the year with the Bison Booster Invitational Meet Sept. 19.

The 1980 schedule will again include the prestigious Notre Dame Invitational in South Bend, Ind., on Oct. 3 and the Southwest Missouri Classic in Springfield, Mo., on Oct. 18.

The 1980 AIC and NAIA District 17 championship meet is scheduled for Nov. 4 in Arkadelphia. The NAIA National Championships will be Nov. 15 in Salina, Kan.

recognition as a coach of track and field. He served as the international coach of Panama in the 1970 Central America-Caribbean Games and was a nominee for the 1972 U.S. Olympic coaching staff.

In 1979 Lloyd directed the cross country team to a 15th place finish in the NAIA national championships at Kenosha, Wis. In his 14 years of collegiate coaching his teams have won 11 conference championships in either cross country or track and field.
